

Future Business Leaders Of America

The Future Business Leaders of America, FBLA is a nonprofit, educational association made up of students pursuing careers in business or business education. It is endorsed by the American Vocational Association, Association of Independent Colleges and Schools, National Association of Secondary Schools Principals, National Business Education Association and U.S. Department of Education.

The purpose of FBLA is to bring business and education together in a positive working relationship. The national organization offers programs and services that create a forum in which students, educators and business people learn about one another. The organizational goals include:

- promoting competent, aggressive business leadership
- understanding American business enterprise
- establishing career goals
- encouraging scholarship
- promoting sound financial management
- developing character and self-confidence
- facilitating the transition from school to work

There are 210,000 active members in over 10,000 chartered chapters throughout the 50 states, American Samoa, Canal Zone, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Department of Defense Dependent Schools.

For additional information concerning FBLA, contact your regional career education coordinator.