Dear Kubasaki Students and Sponsors,

As we approach the final exam week, I would like to share some information with you. First and foremost, a special thanks to all of our amazing Kubasaki parents! Your involvement in and support of the school is an asset of significant value. There is not a moment in any given day that we do not have parents in the building working with students, assisting teachers, or supporting our school in a variety of ways. It has been said a million times, but bears repeating; we could not do what we do without you!

Kubasaki students are a select group of children! I am always in awe as I visit classrooms, see the students in the hallways, and watch them interact with each other. What I find most inspiring is how they care for each other. In a world filled with much discourse, it is heartwarming to see the students treat their counterparts with empathy, compassion, and a sense of ownership as part of the greater good.

Our faculty is also a cherished group of people! They are indeed the most dedicated, hardworking, and passionate group of educators I could imagine working together in one school. What happens behind the scenes to ensure your child is receiving a quality education cannot be adequately articulated. However, Kubasaki faculty and staff members are working long before the sun rises and sets; it's just who they are!

Our final exams are from January 11th through January 14th.
