March 17, 2021

Dear DoDEA Europe East students, parents, employees, and community members,

The return to in-person instruction has necessitated some reminders concerning COVID mitigation protocols. The attached screening form is to be used by DoDEA staff and families each day. No one with the identified symptoms should enter a DoDEA facility, and it is imperative to adhere to medical guidance.

In addition, local guidance should be followed about gatherings of individuals from outside of an immediate family. Students should not attend parties or sleepovers in groups, for example.

It took a dedicated, coordinated, and determined response to get DoDEA Europe East schools back to in-person instruction. DoDEA leadership wholeheartedly believes that students need to be in schools with their teachers. We need the help of everyone reading this email to ensure that the progress we have made endures and the obstacles we have overcome are behind us.

Please take to heart the message that we are a community working together, and please put into practice the measures that help us work together to keep teaching and learning our priority.

We are partners in education!

Sincerely,

Arturo Rivera Jr
Principal

It all began with one single day in 1908 in New York City when thousands of women united and marched for better labor laws, conditions, and the right to vote. A year later on February 28, in a gathering organized by members of the Socialist Party, suffragists and socialists gathered again in Manhattan for what they called the first International Woman's Day.

The idea swiftly caught on and made its way to Europe. And in March of 1910, according to the BBC, German socialist Clara Zetkin introduced the concept at the International Conference of Women in Copenhagen. The 100 women in attendance, representing 17 countries, all agreed. International Women's Day was then formally honored on March 8, 1911 by Germany, Austria, Denmark, and Switzerland. Russian feminists also had a strong influence on the beginnings of the Russian Revolution, with Communist leader Vladimir Lenin making Women's Day a Soviet Holiday in 1917.

In 1975—due to its growing popularity—the United Nations officially began sponsoring International Woman's Day on March 8. The UN's General Assembly declared that they aimed "to recognize the fact that securing peace and social progress and the full enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms requires the active participation, equality, and development of women; and to acknowledge the contribution of women to the strengthening of international peace and security."

By 1978, a California-based organization initiated the creation of Women's History Week, starting March 8. In February 1980 President Jimmy Carter declared in a Presidential Proclamation that the week of March 8 was officially National Women's History Week. By 1986, 14 states had dubbed March Women's History Month. A year later, this sparked congress to declare the holiday in perpetuity.
